

First Tee of Orange County adds another business leader to board

November 10 - 2015 1:37 PM

Dennis Pattison is the newest business professional to join the board of directors at The First Tee of Orange County. Pattison is vice president and senior client manager of global commercial banking at Bank of America Merrill Lynch.

“Dennis’ commitment to our cause and passion for golf will further strengthen our 14-member leadership team,” said board president Tim Casey, “and we look forward to his many contributions to our organization in this new capacity.”

Pattison’s professional background includes financial advising, asset management, strategic counsel, sales, marketing, budgeting and forecasting and relationship management. He earned a bachelor’s degree in Business Administration from UC Riverside and an MBA from USC’s Marshall School of Business.

“I look forward to taking a hands-on role in supporting the critical mission of providing kids with life skills,” Pattison said. “My passion for golf extends beyond the course and into the rich character of the game and its virtuous participants – something I hope to instill in future generations.”

The First Tee of Orange County was established in 2013 and is one of seven chapters in the Southland. The facility in Anaheim offers golf-related education programs aimed at providing the life skills youth need to achieve success, including goal-setting, emotion management, interpersonal skills and conflict resolution. All First Tee programs emphasize its Nine Core Values of confidence, responsibility, respect, honesty, judgment, perseverance, sportsmanship, integrity and courtesy.
